Excerpt from A Travesty Without a Pun! Hamlet Revamped, Modernized, and Set to Music [Room of Hamlet and Horatio at Wittenburgh University. Walls adorned with pictures, oars, foils, and boxing-gloves. Table, centre; books and large dictionaries on other tables and shelves. Hamlet, Horatio, and Students.] Air - Sparkling and Bright. Chorus - Happy and free should a student be, With all his life before him; With friends to share each joy and care, And the college roof-tree oer him. Then laugh along with jest and song, Old Care may catch us later; In chorus gay our tribute pay To dear old Alma Mater. All pastimes light our hearts delight, - We shun their dark excesses; He knows the best of manhoods zest Whom temperate pleasure blesses. Then laugh along with jest and song, Old Care may catch us later; In chorus gay our tribute pay To dear old Alma Mater. Horatio - Well, boys, what next? The gloves once more? What sprightly boxer wants the floor? Or what lithe fencers temper boils Again to try the bending foils? What say you, Hamlet?, Pray devise Some new phase for our revelries. You must not idly stand aside! How can the hours of eventide Be made more merrily to glide? About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
