

Dance of the Totems

Mary Michael (Martin) was born in Canada on 27th October 1923. Her father Samuel Storm Martin was a lawyer in the time of the financial crisis of 1929. This relationship had a profound influence on Mary and is reflected in one of her poems. Her first published poem was written at the age of thirteen and she continued to write throughout her life as an editor; an Anglican nun; and an explorer of Tibetan Buddhism. Mary's final years were happiest when she was cooking and writing poetry in Perth, Western Australia. In this book you will be led into those places within yourself of transcendence, humour, love and pain. These poems are an experience that you may recognise and revisit. This was Mary's last poem, noted after diagnosis: Let's get the dying out of the way, and get on with our lives! 15 November 2004
